Since the last quarterly update in July 2006, the Commission has experienced and accomplished the following:

Traffic Stop Data Study

- John Lamberth and Jerry Clayton of Lamberth Consulting, noting that a year had passed since their agency's initial presentation to the commission, discussed project details and background with CRPC members. Additional topics covered were methods of surveying benchmark intersections, analyzing resulting data, and reporting study results.
- Chair Renee Carter observed training of the research surveyors employed by Lamberth Consulting to conduct visual data collection at 50 major intersections throughout the City from September through November 2006.
- Staff briefed commission members on the comparison of traffic stop locations in the City to accident locations and DUI checkpoint locations in the City. Additional discussions covered SPD motor officer deployment policy, traffic stop data compared to parolee location data, and the breakdown of traffic stops into categories of hazardous and non-hazardous.
- Commission members received notice that the new Scantron form they had helped re-design would be ready for use in the fall of 2006.

Weekend Workshop – Commission members attended a daylong meeting and workshop that featured:

- Presentation and discussion on the Role of the Commission and on the Brown Act
- Discussion of the history of the CRPC
- Formulation of new Commission goals by members
- Presentation on definitions of probable cause to arrest, probable cause to search, reasonable suspicion, consensual stops, and types of police searches
- Presentation on Police Department training on racial profiling and participation in interactive video study material from the Simon Wiesenthal Center's Museum of Tolerance
- Discussion on the definition of "racial profiling"

Goals

It has been this Commission's steadfast goal to provide the City with a greater opportunity to be inclusive and allow for equitable representation and accountability. The Commission will continue to work on ensuring effective community engagement related to the study, including planning to convene a one-day workshop, facilitated by Lamberth Consulting, featuring dialogue among members of the Police Department and the public. The Commission continues to work with Lamberth Consulting to ensure that the design and implementation of the traffic stop study result in an accurate report on the status of vehicle, bike and pedestrian stops in the city of Sacramento.

Sincerely,

Renee Carter, 2006 Chair, CRPC

Rick Brazier, 2006 Vice Chair, CRPC
