Free Tennis Clinic Helps Raise Funds for Improvements to McKinley Park's Tennis Courts: Saturday

Sacramento, California, May 15, 2009—The tennis courts at McKinley Park are a regional attraction which help youth learn the game of tennis and adults further develop their tennis skills. Councilmember Steve Cohn, the McKinley Park Tennis Court Reconstruction Project Committee, and the Department of Parks and Recreation invite the media and public to attend a community-driven, free tennis clinic that is being organized to help raise funds for much needed improvements to the park's eight tennis courts.

The free clinic will take place this Saturday, from 5 p.m. – 6 p.m. at the McKinley Park Tennis Courts – 601 Alhambra.

Saturday's free clinic will feature Wayne Bryan, coach of the 2007 World Team Tennis Champions, the Sacramento Capitals. Mr. Bryan is also the father of the world's #1 doubles team, Mike and Bob Bryan.

Informational flyers and descriptions of the improvements that are planned for the courts will be available during the event.

Media-related inquiries can be forwarded to Hindolo Brima, Media and Communications Specialist, Department of Parks and Recreation, at (916) 622-8066.
